

Dylan Toombs is a teacher, consultant, clinician and arranger for numerous bands across the country. He is brass specialist in the Dallas Fort-Worth metroplex maintaining a studio of over 60 students, encompassing individuals from middle school through college. Toombs also serves as a visual specialist and music consultant for the Marcus High School Marching Band, and has worked with countless high school band programs from around the country. In addition to teaching, Dylan arranges for marching and concert ensembles of any variety.

Toombs has served in the Carolina Crown Drum and Bugle Corps for eight consecutive years. During his tenure at Carolina Crown, the organization has earned 1 World Championship and 4 Jim Ott High Brass awards, as well as an individual accolade for Toombs as brass member of the year in 2014. Dylan now serves as a lead brass and music coach for the organization.

Dylan earned his degree from the University of North Texas in Music Performance with a concentration in Euphonium Performance. During his educational endeavors at the University of North Texas, Dylan studied with the world-renown Dr. Brian Bowman, Regent's Professor of Euphonium.